

Divers Trying to Recover Bodies of 9 Students

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (UP)—Divers go to the bottom of treacherous and swift Big Sandy River today to seek the bodies of 26 children and a bus driver, victims of the most tragic school bus accident in the nation's history.

The victims died when the bus, which carried high school and grade school pupils, plunged over a 50-foot cliff into the rain-swollen river after a collision with two other vehicles Friday morning.

Fourteen other children escaped through an emergency door before the swift current sucked the bus under water and carried it downstream for at least 50 feet.

It was likely bodies were swept off the bus after it submerged.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Goble lost their three children. Two other families were left childless. Seven families lost two children each.

The small farming communities in this area were stunned by the tragedy. The village of Cow Creek, where about 100 families reside, lost 14 children.

Goble runs the Community Store in Cow Creek. His wife teaches 33 children in the village's grade school. They lost their three children, Ed 12, John Spencer, 11, and Anna Laura 9.

Mrs. Goble was teaching when Bill Darby ran, to the schoolhouse to tell her what had happened.

"I prayed that at least one of the three might be saved, but I knew in my heart I had lost all my children," she said.

Daughter, Sister Drowned
Later, Darby learned he had lost his daughter, sister and niece in the accident.

Three divers sought to locate the bus on the rocky river bottom and attach cables to the vehicle. A raft was taken out and anchored for use of the divers and their equipment.

A powerful bulldozer was ready to pull the submerged vehicle to the shore when lines were attached.

Coast Guard Lt. John Mundy, in charge of the operation, estimated it would take at least seven hours.

The bus was located 10 hours after it dropped into the river. It lay in about 20 feet of water, 50 feet downstream from where it toppled into the stream. The river is about 100 feet wide at the spot. The current is 6 knots, about 6 miles per hour.

Private Clubs to Be Probed

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The retiring Pulaski County Grand Jury suggested today that its successor investigate the operation of private clubs.

The new grand jury will be empaneled Monday.

The final report submitted to Maj. William J. Kirby said complaints had been made to some of the grand jury members as to the operations of so-called private clubs.

The report said the grand jurors had made some investigation, but did not have time to go into it thoroughly.

"We heartily concur with the city manager (Little Rock City Manager Dean I. Dauley) and the prosecuting attorney in their effort to padlock, if necessary, any and all violations," the report said.

"We recommend that the next grand jury make a full and complete investigation of all violations."

PILLARLESS DOME—One of the most fantastic of Henry J. Kaiser's diverse business interests is "Dome Enterprises," which he formed in partnership with Hollywood's Mike Todd, Pat Weaver, former president of National Broadcasting, and Frank Lloyd Wright, the famed architect. The product of Dome Enterprises is a hemispherical roof made of diamond-shaped, curved aluminum panels. They are fastened together and raised on a central mast until they are built out to the circumferential foundation. Then the mast is taken down, leaving a pillarless dome which can be used as a pavilion. One above, located at Kaiser's Hawaiian Village Hotel, is 49½ feet high, 145 feet in diameter and can seat 1,800 to 2,000.

GROUND SUPPORT—Missile ground support equipment for the Air Force IRBM Thor is now going into production at San Jose, Calif. It includes transporter-erector used to move the missile to launching site and raise it into firing position, a launch mount or base from which missile is fired, and a power pack trailer which contains hydraulic and electrical mechanisms needed to actuate initial steps in firing sequence. At left, the missile has been placed in vertical firing position. At right, transporter-erector is lowered to ground.

1858 Magazine Proves Ladies Were Also Fashion Conscious

By Mary Anita Laseter

When a copy of Godey's Lady's Book and Magazine was loaned to me recently by W. H. Shideler, I had expected to find it interesting. To my surprise, it was also fascinating.

This bound volume of six monthly issues of "the only lady's book in America" (as it was advertised) is dated July-December, 1858.

Then, as now, the chief attraction in a lady's magazine was fashion illustrations. Steel engravings and wood engravings were used for the black and white pictures, but there were also colored pictures made possible through the use of colored steel plates. (I had no idea colored pictures were in existence so long ago!)

Since ready-to-wear clothing could not be bought a century ago, the book was filled with sewing instructions and even had the patterns to be used, printed for the reader. Hair fashion was also illustrated and discussed. This included an advertisement in each month's issue for four colors of hair dye—black, dark brown, light brown, and blonde.

Plans for everything from menus to houses were in evidence in this early book and magazine designed with the ladies in mind. All of the recipes were called "receipts," but they still sounded tempting.

An article entitled "Chemistry for the Young" was a monthly feature as was "The Editor's Table." In the latter, Mr. Godey discussed everything from education to new products which he personally recommended.

If you think advice to the lover-ly has been only in the Twentieth Century, you haven't seen Godey's publication. In the "Letters to the Editor" and their replies the reader can find several examples of love-love correspondence and advice.

For those who enjoyed non-fiction, there were discussions of weddings, parents, children, health, and gardening. Plenty of material was provided in the fiction department by short stories, serials, and poetry.

The subscription rate of $3 a year became even more inviting when it was realized that copies of one or more pieces of short music were in each issue. One such piece was "Nellie Gray."

Household hints, want ads, puzzles, riddles, and jokes were used as "fillers" and completed the book-magazine. In the instructions for future subscribers, the magazine carried warning about securing gold dollars well before mailing.

THE LADY'S BOOK was published in Philadelphia from 1830 to 1898. Today, a person who reads one of these issues, sees how it applies. Illustrations "there's nothing new under the sun."

The stated object of Godey's Lady's Book and Magazine was "to please the ladies." Isn't that the same object of similar modern publications?

Cold, Rainy Weather Is Forecast

BY UNITED PRESS

Cold and rainy weather was forecast today for Arkansas during the next 36 hours.

It will be cloudy in the north portion and generally fair in the south portion and cooler this afternoon and tonight. Saturday will continue generally fair and cool, but Sunday is expected to bring scattered showers.

Highs this afternoon will be near 40 in the extreme northwest, to near 60 in the extreme south, lows tonight 24-32 degrees north and 30-40 south, and highs Saturday 44 extreme north to 56 extreme south.

The extended forecast—Friday through next Wednesday—said temperatures will average two to four degrees below the normal maximum of 59 and the normal minimum of 39 degrees. No important day-to-day changes were expected, and precipitation will be light to moderate in scattered showers Sunday or Monday.

The high in Arkansas Thursday was 67 degrees at Camden, the low this morning 28 at Fayetteville. Light snow was reported at Fayetteville late Thursday and early today, but it had stopped falling at mid-day.

At 11 a. m. skies were partly cloudy at Fort Smith, cloudy at Walnut Ridge, El Dorado, Fayetteville and Memphis and clear elsewhere in Arkansas. Fayetteville had 30 degrees, Fort Smith 40, El Dorado 32, Walnut Ridge 42, Arkansas 32, Pine Bluff 33, and El Dorado 35.

Civil Control of Space Has Top Backing

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon today placed the administration solidly behind civilian control over the exploration of space.

At the same time Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said he can't see any military advantage in hitting the moon with a rocket—but his department will try it before "too long."

Missile expert Krafft A. Ehrlicke, speaking at the Air Force jet air conference, proposed construction of a "chromo-nuclear" powered space ship weighing 900 tons that could be launched from the earth by 1970 to land on the moon and circle Mars.

Ehrlicke said his freighter-sized space vehicle was dependent upon the Atomic Energy Commission coming up with a system of feeding liquid hydrogen to a rocket engine which has a nuclear pile as its energy source.

In Apparent Contradiction
"It is important," Nixon said, "that our own outer space development be under the control of a civilian agency because control of space development by a military agency can only mean that peaceful exploration of space will assume a minor role."

McElroy told Congress the Defense Department is interested in the moon as an objective, but not as a military target, for psychological and scientific reasons. "I can't say how soon we are going to hit it, but it shouldn't be too long."

McElroy appeared in contradiction to other Defense Department spokesmen who recently have been stressing to Congress the importance of putting a military missile base on the moon as soon as possible to keep the Russians from getting control of space and the world.

Some military experts have said the initial step to a lunar station—an unmanned rocket—could be shot to the moon within the year.

A New ICBM
Other developments:
—The Air Force said it will soon launch a spy-in-the-sky reconnaissance satellite weighing more than 1,300 pounds. The Pled Piper being developed by Lockheed Corp. would be designed to keep all portions of the globe under surveillance, presumably by television or radar.

—The Air Force also revealed plans for a super intercontinental ballistic missile packing a warhead much larger than that of a metropolitan-wrecking H-bomb. It would travel at higher speeds and travel further than the presently designed 5,000 mile ICBM range.

—Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) predicted the Air Force would order production of enough B52 hydrogen bombers for at least one and possibly two additional wings in the Strategic Air Command.

Department Store Sales Sag Some

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Department store sales in the Little Rock area sagged three per cent for the week ending last Saturday.

The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis announced today that sales in the entire eighth district were down an estimated eight per cent, led by an 18 per cent drop in seven smaller cities of the district.

Little Rock sales were down six per cent for the four weeks ending last Saturday, and down one per cent for the year to date.

Kohler Strike Brought More Police Hiring

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Waldermar Capelle, police chief of Kohler, Wis., said today he added more than 40 Kohler Co. employees to his force as special officers.

He said the recruits trained with submachine guns and tear gas guns on the company's rifle range.

Once the UAW strike started, he said, he put 45 more Kohler men on his force as special policemen.

But Capelle told the Senate Rackets Committee it was not his purpose in augmenting his regular four-man force to set up a strike-breaking force.

He was not asked directly about charges by UAW President Walter P. Reuther that the Kohler Co. armed and trained a private "army" under the guise of a civil defense program.

Became State Officer
The committee is investigating violence in the early days of the strike, which began in April, 1954. Capelle said he began recruiting his special police force two years earlier, when employees of the plumbing fixtures plant voted to join the UAW.

Under questioning by Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, Capelle said he organized a humane society in Kohler village and said that prevention of cruelty to animals was not the only reason.

He said as head of the society he also became a state officer appointed by the governor. He said the village attorney advised him that this would lend extra legal "protection" for having guns, and submachine guns. He said there had been "quite a lot" in the village over these weapons.

Kennedy brought out that Capelle got his instructions from a three-man police committee of the village board. Capelle said two of the three board members were Kohler employees.

Once the strike started, he said, he signed up another 45 Kohler workers as special policemen. Eight or nine of the original group

Film Industry Mourns Death of Harry Cohn

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The film industry was in mourning today for Columbia Pictures President Harry Cohn.

His death wrote a Cinemasized "The End" to an era which saw the 66-year-old starmaker the last of the one-man studio rulers.

Cohn's body will be flown to Los Angeles today from Phoenix, Ariz., where he was stricken with a heart attack and died enroute to St. Joseph's Hospital. Cohn's wife, Joan, was at his bedside in the Arizona Biltmore Hotel where he was stricken.

Cohn, who was born on New York's East Side, had interrupted his desert vacation Tuesday to fly here. He attended funeral services for L. K. Sidney, director George Sidney's father, and returned to Phoenix the same day.

Whether Cohn was an "iron-fisted Caesar" or a dedicated, inspired film genius, his keen eye for talent and thorough publicity methods made stars of such persons as Clark Gable, Rita Hayworth, Jean Arthur, Calumet Colbert, Jean Harlow, Carole Lombard, Cary Grant, and most recently, Kim Novak.

Cohn's heavy hand rein on his million dollar corporation made it one of the most powerful studios in the film city.

Forty-five Oscars decorated the studio's main office where a shadowy man kept on his desk was regularly flanked in conferences with stars, directors and other studio workers alike.

With funeral arrangements yet to be announced, Hollywood was predicting an internal Columbia Pictures struggle for control of the business which had been a oneman show since its incorporation in 1929.

5 Million Out of Work Latest Report Shows

WASHINGTON (UP)—Labor Department officials saw signs today that nearly five million Americans are out of work in the recession.

The department reported a record high of 5,130,200 persons were drawing unemployment insurance during the week ended Feb. 15. Experts said the insured total is usually about two-thirds of the total jobless figure, which reached 4,500,000 in January.

Administration officials have predicted that unemployment would begin to decline in mid-March. They said February should prove to be the peak month for joblessness.

The 5,130,200 figure reported Friday, represents the number of workers claiming unemployment benefits after being out of work a week or more.

The total was the highest since the unemployment insurance system started paying benefits. However some workers of the 47 million in the labor force are now covered by the program compared to only 19 million 20 years ago.

CAB to End Meet to Help Air Service

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board winds up arguments today in its mammoth "seven states" investigation to improve air service in the Midwest.

Cities in South Dakota, Wisconsin and Wyoming were scheduled to deliver their appeals, concluding public hearings in the CAB's biggest case.

The board planned to take the 34 applications from six airlines under study before making a final decision in the 2 year old case.

South Dakota towns were expected to second the suggestion of James M. Verner, spokesman for the South Dakota Aeronautics Commission. Verner told the CAB Thursday it should okay an east-west route across the state from Minneapolis to Casper, Wyo., with stops at Aberdeen, Watertown, Mobridge, and Rapid City.

The state of North Dakota asked for an east-west route connecting Williston on its western border with Minneapolis by way of Minot, Devils Lake, Grand Forks and Fargo.

Several North Dakota cities supported the state's request. They said the isolation of a Dakota town made air service a "must" for businessmen.

Recommendations for air service by CAB examiner Curtis Henderson leave a "great gap" in South Dakota service, Verner asserted.

Wisconsin planned to endorse a proposed route from Minneapolis to Milwaukee via Marshfield and Appleton, Wis., and to support the inclusion of Ashland, Wis., on a route across the northern part of the state.

Casper, Wyo., and Newcastle, Wyo., were prepared to urge the board to create an east-west route across South Dakota terminating at Casper.

The CAB examiner has recommended that North Central Airlines get new routes in the "Dakotas" Minneapolis, Market, Frontier Airlines in the "Omaha and Denver" market, and Ozark Airlines in the "Iowa" market.

The state and city labels don't imply rigid geographical limits but apply generally in the seven-state area.

About 60 cities and nearly a score of senators and congressmen appealed to the board to improve air service since the oral arguments began Tuesday. The case involves short-haul or "feeder" service rather than trunk-line routes.

Riales Seeks 2nd Term in Senate
LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Sen. Roy L. Riales, Sr. of Menard, announced today for a second term representing the sixth senatorial district.

He filed his corrupt practices pledge with Secretary of State C. C. Hall. Riales represents Holt, Howard, Sevier and Little River counties.

He served 10 years in the Arkansas house from Polk county and was house speaker in 1947. He said in his announcement today that during the 1957 session he voted for all segregation measures and against all tax measures.

Riales said recently he has signed pledges from 27 of the 43 members of the Senate for election as president pro tem of the upper house.

GOP Group in Defense of Mr. Benson

WASHINGTON (UP)—A group of Republican congressmen today labeled critics of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson "ignorant" who will live to see his policies vindicated.

The counterattack by Benson supporters was the strongest in many months. It came after President Eisenhower reiterated his backing for his embattled farm chief and Benson himself denied he was a political liability to midwestern Republicans.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) told the House the Secretary's own want to know about the economics of the farm problem. He said Benson's "solutions may not work but at least he is leading from knowledge in trying to solve the problem."

Rep. Charles M. Tamm (R-Calif.) said Benson was trying to put the farm program on a sound economic basis—"God bless him and more power to him," Rep. Henry A. Dixon (R-Utah) promised. "We'll live to see the day when Benson's policies will be vindicated."

Will Keep Trying
Backing for the embattled secretary also came from GOP Reps. Perkins Bass (N.J.), Harold H. Collier (Ill.), Stuyvesant Wainwright (N.Y.) and John E. Henderson (Ohio).

They spoke out after Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa), one of about 40 anti-Benson midwestern Republicans lawmakers, said Benson had outlived his usefulness. Gross also said the President should take time out "on his next golf-shot" and "golfing trip to acquaint himself with what's happening in agriculture."

But there appeared to be little chance Benson's foes could bring about his ouster.

Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) and Phil Weaver (R-Neb.) said they would keep trying even though President Eisenhower turned down their demands during a White House conference Thursday. They said they hoped meetings with "additional groups" still might change the President's mind about his farm chief.

Feeling of Urgency
At a news conference Thursday, Benson disputed predictions that his presence in the Cabinet would cost the GOP up to 30 House seats in the fall elections. In fact, he claimed any Republican who runs on his farm policies will win "because they are sound and fair policies."

Late Thursday, Republican Gov. Vernon W. Thomson of Wisconsin called on the agriculture secretary to urge cancellation of a scheduled slash in dairy price supports.

Afterward, he told newsmen administration farm policy has produced a "feeling of unrest among dairy farmers." But he refused to say whether he thought Benson should resign.

Thomson added he did not necessarily agree that Benson's policies would cause GOP election defeats in the farm belt.

French Authorize Arms Shipment
ALGERS (UP)—French officials today authorized the departure of a U.S.-built B17 bomber, forced down in Algeria Thursday with a cargo of arms and ammunition.

An authorized source said investigation had shown the Algerian rebels. He said the plane and its crew were free to leave Algeria as soon as repairs were made.

A French government spokesman said Thursday the plane's crew was made up of two Americans, an Englishman, and an Israeli. He said they reported the plane was ferrying the arms from Israel to Venezuela.

Probers Lash Mack, Suggest He Resign Post

By WILLIAM R. BARRETT

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Owen Harris and other members of a House investigating subcommittee in telling the commissioner he should resign.

Harris, whose group has been hearing Mack's testimony the past two days, said the commissioner has been "used" by his friends. He told Mack, "you are to be pitied." But he said that if Mack did not submit his resignation President Eisenhower—who up-pointed him to the FCC—should immediately request it.

Mack, obviously moved, said he would "seriously consider" Harris' suggestion that he quit.

With that, Mack asked that the hearing be recessed until next Wednesday, when he presumably will give his answer. The subcommittee agreed to the recess.

Returns Next Wednesday
Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.) earlier had asserted that Mack should be fired or impeached.

And earlier today Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) told the 48-year-old Floridian he was "unfit" to serve on the commission and should "immediately submit your resignation."

Then Harris, saying he felt sorry for Mack, joined in the demand.

The chairman said he believed a "deliberate conspiracy" had been attempted to "defraud" the government in the now notorious Miami Channel 10 case in which Mack was accused of plotting his vote to Thurman A. Whitledge, an old friend and financial supporter, on behalf of National Airlines.

Harris said Mack would be recalled next Wednesday "regardless of whether he still is a member of the commission then."

U. S. Envoy Tries to Avert Tunisia War

By PETER WEBB

United Press Staff Correspondent

TUNIS (UP)—U.S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy conferred hurriedly today with American officials over Tunisian determination to turn the Franco-Tunisian crisis into a full-scale inquest of the Algerian war.

Murphy spent the morning conferring with U.S. Ambassador Lewis Jones at the ambassador's Carthage villa. Officials said no meeting with President Habib Bourguiba had yet been arranged.

Although official silence has been thrown over the "good offices" talks, well-informed sources said Murphy was surprised by the strength of Tunisian determination to press for a settlement of the Algerian conflict.

After Tuesday's two-hour meeting, Bourguiba told reporters that Algeria was the "central point" of the talks and the "principal cause of all difficulties."

France has absolutely refused to include Algeria on the grounds that it is an internal affair.

In Paris, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau restated France's rejection of demands to get French troops out of Tunisia. He also snapped at the United States for policy "mistakes" in the Middle East.

Pineau told the French Senate France had warned the United States against the Baghdad Pact, against U.S. opposition to the Anglo-French invasion of Suez, and against the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Pineau added another warning to the United States and Britain in their role as conciliators between France and Tunisia. He said if they accept Tunisian demands to turn the French naval base of Bizerte over to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, France will demand the same status for the British ports of Malaga and Gibraltar.

In Algeria the French reported a major increase in fighting in the last few days. They said they had killed more than 150 rebels since Sunday and lost 47 French soldiers killed and 73 wounded.

quilt to join the strikers, he said Sheriff Mosch recalled Theodore S. Mosch, former Sheboygan County sheriff, was recalled earlier for questioning on some of his testimony Thursday. Mosch had quoted a deputy as reporting that the company president, Herbert V. Kohler, once appeared at the plant gate with a club-wielding group and shouted that "I am the law."

Under questioning by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), Mosch agreed that neither he nor the deputy actually saw the alleged incident. He also agreed with Goldwater that Kohler might have been trying to get into his plant and was stopped.

Americans World's Best Merchandisers

By DUC QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Americans are the world's greatest merchandisers, and the constant struggle of industry to re-package and re-build its product into a new image of worth every 20 minutes is wondrous to behold.

A recent review in this column on push-button cans and disassemblable bottles drew some blithe comment from a big man in toothpaste about the joys and brainstorms of that valuable business. "The toothpaste industry is a great fun," he said. "Somebody told that leading medical journal, the Readers Digest, an article on ammonium iron as a great toothpaste. So all of us in the manufacturing business had to rush out an ammonium iron toothpaste whether or not our research showed it did or did not help the teeth."

"Then another writer sold the Saturday Evening Post a piece revealing that chlorophyll really was the priceless ingredient. So we all had to come out with a chlorophyll paste, called 'the greens' in the trade."

Press Discovers Town
"Then the press discovered a little town in Texas where nobody had any cavities. The answer: They had fluoride in the reservoir. So we all bought a little fluoride and stuck it in—the public demanded it. This had lasted a couple of months."

"Now you can't sell ammonium iron or chlorophyll or fluoride, just as we suspected. This makes it easier for the druggist too because he doesn't have to carry four variations of each brand. But lately there has been a dearth of lay articles on new ingredients to excite the public. Guess the writers have turned their attention to rockets."

"The result was, the consumer having returned to the white toothpastes, things got pretty dull I can tell you. So we thought about packaging. Some of the boys now are going in for bombs—across the canal."

Great Fun
"These are great fun. Give a child a bomb and the little darling can have a great deal of innocent amusement. The best of them will squirt 10 feet. Then you whale the hell out of the brat."

"Confidentially—and don't tell the Blatnik committee about this—we're working on a 20-gallon tank filled with toothpaste. This fits on the outside of the house and a hose runs into the bathroom."

"You simply hold your brush under the hose, turn it on and deliver the tanks as they are needed. We are also setting up a home service so you can send your teeth in to us and we will clean and return them, painted in stripes or any design you may specify. One day service if you call before 8 a.m."

CHECKUP FOR HAGERTY
WASHINGTON (UP)—White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty entered Walter Reed Army Hospital Wednesday for a checkup on a chronic stomach condition. Hagerty said he expected to remain in the hospital not more than 48 hours.

FIVE FIGURES FOR EASTER
BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Luke Easter, former major league star who has enjoyed two fine seasons with Buffalo of the International League, was tempted today with a 1958 contract calling for a salary of "five figures." Bisons' General Manager Don Labruzzo didn't reveal the exact amount, but said he had offered Easter a salary of "five figures as a tribute for two great seasons here."

Gaillard holds that Algeria is purely of internal French concern. But every attempt to end the revolt since it broke out on Nov. 1, 1954, has failed.

Upwards of 500,000 French troops have failed to crush the rebels. Legislation providing for a large measure of home rule for Algeria has failed to provide a way out.

Finally, there is serious division among French leaders in Paris over the extent of home rule to be granted.

Trouble-shooter Murphy is quoted as expressing optimism over his chance of arranging an agreement between Paris and Algiers. He said he does suspect that he will be a diplomatic miracle man.

CHAPTER XVII

I opened the paper to the story on Wales' death, showed him the two pictures. He touched Wales' photo with his pipe. "That's him. He used to talk to me a good deal, at first. Kept asking like you just did, what this other bootlegger looked like, the one they never did catch up with. Like I say, they was pretty quiet about what they was doing, so I only saw him maybe a few times. Slim young fellow with dark hair and a thin mustache. Always wearing sunglasses, even when it was a dull day. Of course I ain't so sure o' this now it was years ago."

"Yeah, too long ago," I said, trying to think. "How often did Wales come out to look at the garage, or watch it?"

Davis shifted his feet on the pitchfork. "Hard to say. For a time seemed like he was there every time I turned around. Of course now I had a kind of job, so I couldn't say if he was there during the day or not. After a time, a few years, we didn't talk much, just nod at the other. Sometimes he'd ask if I'd seen anybody around searching the place. I never did."

"Wait a minute," I cut in. "Before the war—you mean Wales was still snooping around here years after the killing?"

"Yep, he was around up till the time they tore it down. Not so often. I'd see him one day and maybe not again for a month or more. He'd step inside and tell me to go out and look at my plants. But sometimes I'd watch him through a busted window—he'd be standing in the center of the garage and stare at the walls for a long time. Only looking. After a while he'd go to one wall or corner and start hunting. Was nothing in there, the police took out all the machinery when they made the arrest. Building was torn down in 1946 but on account of the shortage of building materials they couldn't start building again till—oh—'I'd say it was 1949, when they put up the dye plant. Took me on as watchman again."

"Wales say anything when they took the old garage down?"
"No, sir, he'd given up by then."

"Can you recall when he gave up?"
"Just about. It was early in '40, say around April. I remember because I told him about the building coming down and he seemed a few weeks, says I should go to the movies, take the day off. He said he'd be there all day. I didn't go to no movie. I went home and went to bed. Like I said, he wasn't the kind of man to talk much. Around six in the evening I come back and he says, 'Now they can knock this wreck down, I'm done.' I says to him, 'You find what you been looking for?' And he give me a blank look and asks, 'Who says I was looking for anything? One thing, he wasn't carrying a pack or anything when he left.'"

"He could have put a bag in his car while you were in the sack."

"Nope, he didn't have his car that day. I watched him walking all the way over to Mastland Ave. to catch a trolley. I kind of poked around myself at times, thought maybe was money these bootleggers might have hidden. But I gave it up after a couple looks. Didn't see the paper today, what this Wales done now."

"He was shot to death. Pops, I did you ever see the other man, this Owens, poking around here. He was a detective, too."

"No, just Wales. Don't recall the other face. Course at the time of the shooting, whole block was full of detectives. Tramping all over my tomato plants. Why did Wales shoot himself?"

"He didn't. He was murdered. I said, telling down the dates in my notebook. 'Murdered I say, these teenagers should be given a taste of the strap and then—'

"I want you to do me a favor. Don't talk about this. Don't even tell a nigger what you remember. You see what you've just told me can be nothing, then again it might help us solve Wales' murder."

"I won't say a mumble word. Don't want to get mixed up in nothing. Not me. Say I sure got to read the morning paper now."

I wanted to tell him to keep his trap shut even if that best cop happened to ask what I wanted, but that might make the old boy suspicious of me. I wrote my name and the address phone on a notebook page gave it to him.

"If you think of anything else, even if it doesn't seem important, but anything you haven't told me—remember—give me a ring. I'll be in the house. Leave a number where I can reach you. Got a phone?"

"Only room here, with my grandson, but they got a phone."

plant all during the night. I'll And you can call me at the dye tank about it, maybe I can recall something. But it was a long time ago."

Anybody else around here who might remember the killing?

'Spaceman' Has Problems Like Others

WASHINGTON (UP)—"Spaceman" Donald G. Farrell today admitted to having some down to earth problems—namely an ex-wife and a child.

The 23-year-old airman who became the nation's first "space" traveler by spending a week in a simulated rocket ship previously had given no indication that he had been married, although he was the subject of many interviews.

Farrell said a published report was true that he had a former wife, Mrs. Norma J. Luraas, and a 4-year-old daughter living in Troy, N.Y.

His ex-wife and her husband want to adopt the girl, Heidi Farrell, and Farrell said he was going to let them.

"I think it would be in the best interests of the child," he told the United Press. "I can't provide a home for her."

In interviews since performing the "space" feat, however, Farrell did indicate that he is interested in another girl, Jo Ann Burdick, of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

He said she knew all about his previous marriage. But as for getting married again, Farrell said:

"I'm not in a position to think of that now."

DOROTHY DIX

Waitress Stews as Hubby Suspects Something Spicy

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I have been married 23 years and have been as happy as the average couple. Last year two of our sons were in college and expenses were getting tough to meet, so I took a job as waitress. My husband, usually a mild tempered man, blew his stack. He began accusing me of dating customers, kidding around with them (which isn't true) and finally said the only way he could trust me was to watch me, so he parked in the restaurant whenever he was off and I was on. Finally, of course,

N.Y., has said he would like to attempt a real flight to the moon. Farrell is here to speak to a meeting of the new Senate Space Committee.

The New York Daily News today printed a letter from Mrs. Luraas which the newspaper said was enclosed with a Daily News picture of Farrell peering through a telescope.

The letter addressed to the editor said:

"As long as Donald G. Farrell is eyeing his future, why not let him gaze into the telescope, turn it toward Troy, N.Y., and take stock of his daughter's future." It was signed by Norma J. Luraas (former) Mrs. Donald G. Farrell. She is married to New York State Trooper Robert Luraas.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a boy of 17, shy, and that's bad. I've liked many girls but am too stupid to pursue a romance. Whenever I date I make sure it's a double date so I won't have to carry on conversation. Should I see a doctor?

Dear Bashful: Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my list of books on "How To Be A Teenager." The books I recommend, which may be obtained at your public library, will give you many pointers on acquiring self-confidence and overcoming shyness. Try them before seeing the medic.

Dear Dorothy Dix: The boy I've been dating for several months has suddenly hit a cooling off spot. I used to meet him at lunch, at least have a cup of coffee together, then he'd wait for me after work and we'd have another cup of coffee. I'd call him every night and we'd date every weekend. Now he seems to have plans of his own for weekends and is very abrupt when I call him. I love him very much.

Dear B. H.: Only a miracle could have saved this romance. It was killed by too much coffee and too much you. The poor guy was drowned in caffeine and telephone talk. This man you'll have to forget. Be a bit more subtle with the next one; let him do some of the telephoning and have your coffee breaks alone.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I have been living with his mother since we were married 15 months ago. He goes with the boys three or four night a week, takes fishing and hunting trips with them, and I have spent most of my married life alone. The last time he went out and stayed all night, I left him. That was two weeks ago. I went back to my mother and got a job. Now he's begging me to come back, promises to stay home more, get a job, and get us a home. We're awfully young—I'm 18 and he's 20. What shall I do?

Dear B. K.: Don't go back until he has made a good attempt at keeping those promises. Insist on having your own home, even if it's only a two-room apartment, and see that he has a job. Don't rush into there's something more substantial in them than promises.

Supper Meeting Held By Methodist Men's Club

Thirty members and three guests, Hosa Shepherd, D. L. McGree Jr. and Judge Lyle Brown of Hope attended the regular monthly supper meeting of the Methodist Men's Club held at the church on Monday evening with the president, Wallace Sage, presiding.

Judge Brown was the speaker for the evening and spoke on the discipline of the Methodist Church and reviewed the vows taken by each individual when they became a member of the Methodist Church. He brought out several points pertaining to those vows whereby a person could determine whether or not he was continuing to live a life of dedication to these vows.

CSW Fellowship Meets

The February meeting of the Business Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church was held in the church parlor on Monday evening and a covered dish supper was enjoyed.

Following the supper, Miss Fay Loomis had charge of the program and gave an inspiring devotional on "The Great Commission." The program topic was on "Japan." Miss Loomis told of the opportunities of women and children and the percentage of Christians in Japan as compared to the population.

Mrs. A. V. Babb of Hope and Mrs. William Blackburn of Mauldin, Mo. were guests. There were eight members present.

Study Meeting Held By Wesleyan Service Guild

The Wesleyan Service Guild met on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. J. A. Cole for the concluding study on "Mark."

The devotional on "Jesus and the Association" was given by Miss Frances Bailey. Mrs. B. A. DeLamer reviewed two chapters of the study book on "Jesus and the Future" and "The Prelude to Calvary." Mrs. J. W. Gist gave the concluding chapter on "Struck Down and Not Destroyed" closing her talk with an Easter poem.

Fifteen members and two guests enjoyed cherry nips and coffee during the social hour.

WMS Has Study

Members of the WMS of the First Baptist Church met Monday, Feb. 24 at the church for an all day meeting and study on the new study book entitled "The Long Bridge."

Mrs. Roy Stainton, Mission Study Chairman, was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. Hedy Butler gave the devotional followed by prayer by Mrs. Stainton. A playlet "The Tenth Man" was given by Mrs. A. R. Underwood, Mrs. Bobby Martin and Mrs. Wilburn Willis.

The auditorium of the church held displays of posters concerning work with the Negro race. Mrs. A. R. Evans gave a review of the first two chapters of the book. She was assisted by Mrs. Stainton and Miss Lillie Butler. The third chapter in the study book was taught by Mrs. Stainton and Mrs. Al Plyler and Mrs. W. L. Payne gave the life story of Marion Anderson.

A potluck lunch was served in the church dining room at noon after lunch Mrs. Harrel Hines gave a

Starts Tuesday at the Saenger

James Fenimore Cooper, the first of the true American epic writers, whose classic adventure, "The Deerslayer," opens Tuesday at the Saenger theater.

Many of the devices familiar to moviegoers and western fans were invented or at least first cataloged by Cooper. The "blood brother" theme, the white hero who fights injustice toward the Indians and the whites who believe only "good Indians are dead Indians" are from "The Deerslayer."

Of course, most of Cooper's themes were written for a frontier which extended not much further than the Susquehanna River in New York State. Today, however, they are applied to the whole struggle of red man and white; the giving way of a fane of civilization for one more advanced.

"The Deerslayer," produced and directed by Kurt Neumann for Twentieth Century-Fox in CinemaScope and De Luxe Color is a direct translation by Mr. Neumann and Carroll Young of Cooper's earliest work. It stars Lex Barker in the title role, Rita Barker, Forrest Tucker, Cathy O'Donnell, Jay C. Flippen and Carlos Rivas.

Cooper, often called "the Sir Walter Scott of America," would have been delighted with the CinemaScope treatment of his beloved mountains, rivers and valleys.

Lana Turner, Jeff Chandler Deliver Starry New Romance in 'The Lady Takes a Flyer'

Seldom has the screen presented a team more exciting than glamorous Lana Turner and six-foot-four Jeff Chandler, starred together for the first time in Universal-International's color CinemaScope production, "The Lady Takes a Flyer," which opens Sunday at the Saenger theater.

To say that they strike cinematic sparks in the delightful interplay of their respective personalities is to give only a hint of the brilliant fireworks in store for moviegoers in a picture which successfully combines intimate romance, suspenseful adventure and gay sophisticated comedy.

Miss Turner, whose appeal increases with every picture, is seen as Maggie Colby, a devil-may-care, feisty pilot who is still every inch a woman — and then some. Chandler portrays Mike Dandrigger, lone wolf, bachelor and flying soldier of fortune. Once they set eyes on each other the wild blue yonder becomes a sight to behold.

Something entirely new in the field of marriage proposals is introduced by Director Jack Arnold in one sequence in which the two principals first disclose their affections while conversing from separate planes over two-way radio.

Starts Friday at the Saenger

Huntz Hall (center) and Stanley Clements are charmed by the wiles of Joan Bradshaw, one of the sultan's harem dancers, in this scene from Allied Artists' "Looking for Danger," starts Friday at the Saenger theater. The siren really is leading them to the chopping block, however, in the Allied Artists' comedy that also has Lili Karndell in a key role.

Yardley Has Record Within His Range

By UNITED PRESS

George Yardley, the balding sharpshooter who helps build guided missiles during the off season, now has George Milten's one-season professional basketball scoring record within range of his big guns.

Yardley, the Detroit Pistons' league-leading point-maker, racked up 41 points Thursday night in leading Detroit to a 112-109 victory over Minneapolis Lakers at Philadelphia. The win gave the Pistons a 1½ game grip on second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

In the only other game Thursday, the Philadelphia Warriors moved within two games of second place in the Eastern Division by beating Syracuse, 97-91.

Every businessman

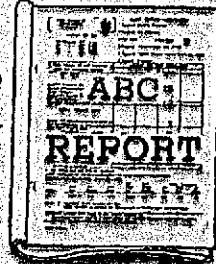

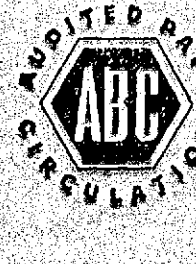

...should expect a full measure

To expect and give an accurate count, weight, or measurement in buying and selling merchandise or services is the foundation of business success. That's true in newspaper advertising, too.

Apply the same know what you get for your money policy in making your advertising investments by using A.B.C. circulation reports. Through the association of this newspaper with the Audit Bureau of Circulations, you are assured of circulation value received for your advertising dollar.

A.B.C. gives you full measurement of circulation facts and figures about the audience for your advertising messages in this newspaper. Ask us for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative, nonprofit association of publishers, advertisers, and advertising agencies. Our circulation is audited by experienced A.B.C. circulation auditors. Our A.B.C. report shows how much circulation we have, where it goes, how obtained and other facts that tell advertisers what they get for their money when they see this paper.

Hope Star

EXCEPT THE LORD BUILD THE HOUSE THEY LABOR IN VAIN THAT BUILD IT

... bargains, bargains, bargains. The business world holds them up as inducements, as attention getters. The newspapers are always full of them. Just mention "bargain counter" and the world flocks your way. Yet, the world's biggest bargains are not found on counters at half price. They are not even animate.

If you really want a bargain, a super bargain, try 'LIVING RIGHT' for awhile. Make telling the truth your business and see the difference. If you use alcohol, leave it off. If you smoke, quit it. If you use God's name in vain — please don't. These omissions will prove to be your greatest bargains... your greatest achievements.

"You don't believe it." Well, then, you are only building your reason, your defense for using them. Preacher, paper-hanger, plumber, not one of the above will profit you a particle. Leave them off and the reward, the bargain, for 'not' using them will all be yours... see you in church Sunday.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we on Sunday, "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
